LB 96 pertains to the learning community, which includes eleven school districts in Douglas and Sarpy counties. The bill repeals the common levy and special building fund levy authorized for school districts in the learning community. The calculation of state aid (TEEOSA) on a collective basis for school districts in the learning community is eliminated.

Repeal of Common Levy: The bill repeals the common $.95 levy for school districts which are members of a learning community. The levy generates about $470 million of property taxes in 2014. The common levy is currently allocated among member districts proportionally based upon the difference of the district's formula need less the sum of state aid and other actual receipts. The repeal allows each district to levy an individual levy and receive the amount of property taxes collected per the valuation of the district. Some districts in the learning community will have decreased property tax receipts and others will have increased receipts pursuant to the repeal.

Repeal of Special Building Fund Levy: LB 96 also repeals the authorization for a special building funds levy for the learning community. The levy is a maximum of $.02 and would generate about $9.9 million based upon 2014 valuations. Taxes received from the levy are distributed proportionately to member school districts based on formula students. The learning community schools did not utilize the levy in 2014.

Change in Calculation of State Aid (TEEOSA): Currently, state aid for the eleven school districts in Sarpy/Douglas counties in the learning community is calculated collectively. The combined formula needs of all the districts in the learning community are compared to the combined formula resources of all districts in the learning community to determine the amount of equalization aid for the school districts in the learning community. Each school district receives a proportional share of equalization aid based upon its share of total formula needs. Assuming the bill takes effect for the state aid allocation beginning in FY2016-17, the repeal of the pooling concept for state aid for the learning community will increase state aid to schools by about $3.8 million, based upon state aid calculated for FY16.

Learning Community of Douglas and Sarpy Counties: The bill has no fiscal impact for the learning community. The repeal of the common levy, special building fund levy and the change in the calculation of state aid impacts the school districts in the learning community, but not the learning community itself. There will be a minimal reduction in the duties of the learning community with respect to preparing and submitting a budget for the common levy.

Explanation of Estimate:

Elimination of the common levy and reverting back to individual school district state aid calculations would have no direct fiscal impact to the activities of the Learning Community of Douglas and Sarpy Counties as 100% of Common Levy funds are disbursed to the member districts of the Learning Community. However, there would be a nominal effect on the LC budget as it would no longer prepare and submit a budget for the common levy (an amount of $465M for 2014-15).

There would, however, be a major impact to the distribution of levy funds and distribution of state aid funds. Additionally, with respect to the state aid funds, because there would no longer be a pooling of needs and resources, at least two districts would have calculated resources larger than needs. Under the current system these excess resources are absorbed by the overall system but reverting back to calculating aid individually would result in additional aid needing to be sent to LC districts. Had the aid distributed to the LC districts been calculated as set forth in LB 96, the additional cost to the state for 2014-15 would have been $3.27M.
