This bill gives counties and cities of a metropolitan, primary, first or second class or villages located in the county the powers to declare as a public nuisance any condition, act or failure to act that unreasonably interferes or might interfere with the health or safety of the community by endangering life or by generating or spreading infectious diseases or might hinder in any manner the prevention or suppression of infectious disease. The governmental entity may direct the owner or user of the property to abate such nuisance. If the owner or user fails to do so, the governmental entity may acquire a lien on the property for the expense incurred.

This bill authorizes but does not mandate that counties, cities or villages take any action regarding public nuisances. There is no fiscal impact.
